

GERMANY LEANS TOWARD AMERICA

Teutons May Not Seek Admission to League at Next Meeting.

By NEWTON C. PARKE.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—Germany has decided not to press her admission to the league of nations at the Geneva meeting beginning November 15, but will wait until the proposals of President Harding of the United States for a new association of powers, according to information in well informed diplomatic circles today.

A neutral diplomat was authority for the statement that this decision was prompted partly by fear that Germany's request for admission would be rejected and partly by a desire for closer co-operation with the United States.

mittance of Germany. Sweden counted upon the support of Premier Lloyd George who has been showing an attitude toward Germany more lenient than that of France.

There are indications that Germany's decision is satisfactory to France. The semi-official newspaper Temps has been urging the league not to admit Germany even if the Berlin government applied.

This newspaper advocated delay on any German request until the attitude of the United States was finally delivered, which will be some months hence.

Among the nations seeking admittance at the Geneva meeting are Finland, Bulgaria and China.

The Japanese delegation has arrived at Geneva, but disapproves from that city say that the Japanese are silent regarding their proposal for racial equality. Belief is growing in Paris that the Japanese will not press their demand for equality of races in view of the immigration negotiations now proceeding between Tokyo and Washington.

Rug Prices Lower.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Price reductions ranging from 25 to 35 percent from October figures were noted at the opening of a sale here today of 35,000 bales of rugs and carpets, valued at several million dollars.

VICTORY BRINGS ITS OBLIGATIONS

elect a majority of our state ticket. This is undoubtedly a rebuke to the state democratic machine, and brings with it responsibilities. I ask of those who so kindly supported us in this campaign not to leave us too hastily; not to forsake us until our people have had an opportunity to prove that we meant what we said when we declared for good government.

"I regard the expression of the people at the polls as a protest against extravagance; a protest against extravagance in affairs of government. It will not be of value to the republican organization to participate in affairs of state unless such participation brings about better conditions of affairs.

"It is with satisfaction, not exaltation, that I extend greetings to all of the people in Oklahoma who contributed to our great victory. It is not a little thing to burst asunder strong party ties. That I know and appreciate. To those men and women who joined with us in the hope of bringing about better conditions, I extend the thanks of myself, the entire republican organization and of the other organizations which stood with us during a campaign somewhat heated and in which feeling ran high.

"No campaign manager was ever given more loyal support than was given by the thousands of men and women who labored for victory. There were times when it seemed impossible to overcome the majority, but thanks be to the sound citizenship of Oklahoma, we won, and in winning, we must be ready to serve as we promised.

Oklahoma is entitled to sound government and efficient leadership. The political organization which brings other things to the fore should and ought to lose. As republicans we owe a duty to our party, but in addition, we owe to those of other parties who joined with us for a great cause, and we must fulfill these obligations, or we will fall in the future.

"Let us trust that Oklahoma has arrived at the hour when a party label on an incompetent person does not mean a tenure of office. We are citizens of a great commonwealth and we have the right to demand and expect the highest type of government.

they are striving to gain admission to the United States as seamen from several different sources. I have received information of attempts to bribe members of the crews of ships. The radicals come either as stowaways or seamen.

In the last few days I received a letter from Dr. S. L. Veebstra, private officer of The Netherlands department of justice, in which I am furnished valuable leads in this matter. Writing me from The Hague, Dr. Veebstra emphasizes what he hinted to me when he was lately in his country, that the invasion of Holland by radicals and a widespread dread of bolshevism are the combining influences which are causing many of the best families in Holland to sell their homes and come to the United States.

"I am not surprised to read in cables from Rotterdam that an attaché of the American consulate had been offered a bribe of $250 a day to permit six of these bolshevik agitators to embark for the United States. Rotterdam seems to have been selected by the plotters as the starting house, but I am advised that Holland authorities are taking proper steps to cope with the schemers.
